NEWS FROM EUROPE.

He would be a wise man indeed who could say how far news from Europe influences the market here. Some consider that the River Plate is beyond the pale and outside of the jurisdiction of European affairs, except as regards the prices for some of our export staples, but this is a very great error; and although the dreadful state of affairs in the Soudan and in China may have more immediate effect on the London and Paris markets than elsewhere, still time will yet prove the truth of our assertion that the False Prophet's victories tell on the Bolsa of Buenos Ayres.

It is not our desire either to alarm our readers or exaggerate the difficulties that at present surround the Liberal Government of England, but, that our readers may thoroughly appreciate the position of the Gladstone Cabinet in the Soudan question, we give the following extracts from the London Telegraph, 19th January, the latest in the Plate, reminding them that subsequent telegrams show that affairs in the Soudan, since the publication of that article, have gone from bad to worse.

The Telegraph says:—

"Even while we thus speculate, however, and while the Queen's Government inaugurates Nubar's Ministry with this terrible burden of dilemmas, the worst may be occurring. Do English people realise what that "worst" will be like? At the doomed town which stands in the fork of the White and Blue Niles there is no civilised besieger sitting down who will give terms and observe the chivalry of war. It is a low-caste African, reeking with the blood of an Egyptian army, and thirsting for fresh slaughter, who has no other way of keeping his wild followers obedient than by promising them the spoils of their slain opponents. He is reported to have lately executed eight of the officials among his prisoners, exposing their heads on poles before his dwelling in El Obeid. Such is the fierce fanatic into whose hands victory and dominion have fallen. Traitors in his interest will come and go, the garrison buildings will be fired, the dervishes and the ghazis who form the fighting line of the Mahdi's host will drug themselves with hacchish and merissa, and fall, in maddened fury upon the defenders, killing them at last like sheep. The word of mercy will not be heard, or only to be mocked; and blood will run down the river banks of the city in rillets. There is a British Consul on the spot, besides many Europeans of various countries with Syrians, Levantines and Greeks, who settled for business purposes in the city, never dreaming of the day when a British Cabinet would give the signal which has entrapped and doomed them. The bazaars will turn out their villainous rabble on the beleaguered throng, and every vile knife and dagger will be savagely busy when the last attack is delivered. Thousands of shrieking women and helpless children will swell the noise of death and destruction with their cries; some destined to be butchered, some to be outraged, the majority to be torn away from their hiding-places for the slave yoke and even a worse fate. The Nile will bear downwards to Berber more corpses than all the crocodiles of the river could devour, and the stores of gum, of ivory, of hides and wax which lead the wharves of the place, will feed the treasury of the False Prophet for new advances. It is a day of horror and bloodshed more dreadful than that "of the three Trumpets," described in the Koran, which we have prepared, only too probably for Khartoum, by our decree of abandonment. Happy for our Ministry, and for the credit of the great nation which they govern will it be if by some unforeseen chance or desperate valour these terrors are escaped: but we do not exaggerate the frightful possibilities of the position, and so long as the least hope, the faintest opportunity of help remains, we affirm that Coetlogon and his troops and people must not be utterly deserted. The mission confided to "Chinese" Gordon implies, it may be trusted, that they keenly feel the dread responsibility. If we can make only a strong demonstration; if we can by telegrams and swift messengers buy over the Arabs; if we can convey a message of negotiation to the camp of the Madhi, accompanied even by terms which, under less urgent circumstances, would seem humiliating—something ought to be done. The shame and grief of the hideous danger impending lie plain in these two facts, that we are and have been since Tel-el-Kebir the virtual rulers of Egypt, and that thousands of Egyptian soldiers, whom we might once have safely recalled, now await a cruel death."

With the light of yesterday's telegrams, and the previous cables announcing the total defeat of Chinese Gordon and his capture by the Mahdi, the following paragraph extracted from the same paper has a most melancholy importance:—

"General C. Gordon, C.B., started yesterday evening for Egypt, en route for Suakin or Khartoum, on a special mission. He takes with him as his military secretary Lieutenant-Colonel Stewart, 11th Hussars, who was at Khartoum on duty last year. General Gordon was met at the Charing-cross railway station by his Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge and General Lord Wolseley, with both of whom he conferred for some time."

Chinese Gordon was, up to last week, the first soldier of the East, his mission was to stiffen the Egyptian army, and check the headlong march of the savage Mahommedans. How terrible the delusion of His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge and Lord Wolseley who bid him good-bye at dear old Charing Cross! In less that 3 weeks he was defeated, his troops cut up, taken prisoner, and we suppose ere this his head is stuck up on the top of a Mahommedan pole.

FALSE PROPHECIES.

(From the Tribuna Nacional.)

For some days past public attention has turned seriously to the subject of the Loans contracted for some time ago with a Syndicate of French bankers. It appears that some difficulties in the way of exchange on Europe led merchants to observe great caution in their operations in this way and try to accumulate exchange in the hands of their correspondents, in case of any emergency, and they kept a close watch on the result of the loans, as the best guide they could have in the matter.

The results of this state of expectancy were sundry and serious rumours as to what might be the consequences to the country of the tightness in the exchange market, and the probability of its leading to an export of gold. We have been told that persons whose position gives them sources of information up to a certain point, have confirmed those rumours and thereby increased the anxiety in commercial circles.

We have closely watched the course of these things, and must candidly confess that we can discover no sound reason for this anxiety; on the contrary, without being optimists, we believe there is nothing alarming whatever in the situation, that the present difficulties are merely transitory, and that, within a very short time, things will return to their normal condition, when it will be seen that the financial state of the country has a sound basis. Besides, to bring about an economic disturbance one or several sufficient causes would be required. Such causes would be patent to and understood by every business man. Well, we have looked for such causes, in order to explain the existing anxiety, but have to ask ourselves, which are they?—where are they?

The crisis cannot be a commercial one, as everybody knows that trade has every facility for its development and is developing greatly. Business is increasing; work is easily obtained; salaries remain high, and it may be said that labour is rather scarce than otherwise, so numerous are the new and divers enterprises that require it. Private capital has not diminished, and it is a consoling fact that our exports are daily on the increase, thus creating further sources of wealth for the country. Discounts, relatively speaking, are not more difficult, as, although credit facilities may be less now and then, this does not arise from any absolute scarcity in the mass of available capital, but rather from the multiplicity of lines of business that, naturally, call for increased capital to work them. In this respect, therefore, in our opinion, it cannot reasonably be argued or proved that there is any good reason for fearing a crisis.

A monetary crisis, and return to inconvertible currency? No! We do not believe that is likely either, as the causes that would inevitably lead to such a situation are wanting. It is likewise known that, although our two chief banks of issue have no very large gold reserves, to represent their balances, their stock of coin is certainly not low enough to cripple their business. In this connection it must be borne in mind that forced currency is always brought about by some latent abnormal cause in the state of nations, and that this cause is almost invariably the result of an unfavourable disparity between their production and consumption, which leads to an export of coin to pay the difference.

We have before us a resumen of the Republic in the year 1883, which shows a total trade of $136,101,000, against $121,635,000 in 1882; this large figure being comprised of $76,019,214 Imports, and $60,082,230 Exports. Well! even supposing that these figures were absolute, the relation between our imports and exports would not be unfavourable, since we may naturally count on an increased relative value for our exports in the European markets,—an increase which foreign statists have often proved to be at least 25 per cent—which equalises the value of what we export and what we import.

But, as we have said, the figures are not absolute; In the Imports there are eight millions dollars worth of materials for public works in the country, and these materials do not represent consumption, but permanently invested capital. If to this we add the increased value of our exports, and likewise bear in mind the gradual importation of foreign capital that is going on, it can clearly be seen that the economical condition of the country is not bad, and that, as we have already said, there is nothing to justify the alarming rumours in circulation. It is also apparent that the apprehensions as to the export of coin and forced currency are chimerical and based on groundless theories.

Calmly considered, the facts, up to the present, show that no causes for anxiety really exist. The loans contracted for, we are in a position to state, will be realised, sooner or later as the delay has not arisen from any want of credit or confidence in the country, but from mere questions of form that, we are positively informed, are certain to be arranged.

We can, therefore, contradict categorically the incoherent predictions of our colleague The Standard, contained in an ill-conceived article, two days ago, in which it is stated that the rise in the discount rate of the Bank of England, the new loan which the French Government is trying to launch, and the news from Egypt, may have a negative influence on the negotiation of our loans.

The rate of discount is periodically changed by the Bank of England, as circumstances require, and that to which it has now been altered certainly does not mean any restriction in the English market, when, but a short time ago, the rate was 5 per cent. The loan can cause no disturbance there, as it will be placed mainly in France, if it be realized; and the news from Egypt will, assuredly, not bring about any disastrous condition of the English market, where our loans will be launched within a few days.

It can, therefore, be seen that the rumours in circulation and the predictions of our Hibernian colleague are mere False Prophecies, and that Argentine credit must continue to rise with the impulse derived from the increasing prosperity of the country.

The Diario proposes that the manufacturers of "pomos" should be made to pay the cost of Carnival, as they get the most profit out of it. Hear! hear! Kill the confounded "pomo," and Buenos Aires will soon be free from the wretched nuisance of Carnival and all its vice and disorder.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our Special Correspondent).

ODDS AND ENDS.

Jan. 18, 1884.

"Toung Taloung," Mr. Barnum's white elephant, bids fair to become Jumbo II. The newspapers, and, I am sorry to add, the Royal Zoological Society, are sparing no pains to create another jumbomania. Special correspondents have been sent to Liverpool from all the London newspaper offices, and telegrams appear in the several editions announcing the expected arrival of the "Tenasserim"—the ship bearing the precious freight—her being off Ormshead, her being in sight, her arrival at the docks, the interviews of the correspondent with the sacred beast, his health, appearance and details of his voyage—his amiability, his landing and final departure from Lime-street Station for Euston—and here he is. To-morrow the Zoological Society will take the affair in hand and get up a crowd for his reception and another for a private view. No doubt, Mr. Bartlett, the superintendent of the Gardens, takes a legitimately scientific interest in the animal, but it is not forgotten that the proceeds of the Jumbo nuisance enabled the Society to make valuable additions to its houses and collection. Nor would any one be otherwise than pleased at the repetition of such a result, except that behind the whole arrangements there is the grin of Barnum and Co., and a strong flavour of humbug. The new importation seems to be a fair specimen of the so-called "white elephant," that is to say, an ashen-coloured animal, with pinkish hue about the head and ears, and with Naples-yellow eyes; that is to say, an albino amongst his kind, in some respects like many white circus horses, rabbits, rats and mice, although less developed than these in its departure from the normal type. The animal is only fifteen years old, an age which is almost that of babyhood in elephant life, that extends to a century or two. He is a male, and is said to have cost Messrs. Barnum and Co. £40,000, besides much trouble and even peril to their agents in Siam and Burmah. Toung Taloung comes from the latter country, where the white specimens of his kind are not held in such excessive reverence as in Siam. I have taken from the newspapers of the week a full account, which I send you separately, of the animal, his voyage and arrival, so that you may not be caught napping when the British mind is in the full crisis of a second attack of jumbitis. This may occur about the period of the creature's re-baptism, and it is already complained that his name is neither short enough or poetical enough as pronounced in our Doric.

Next to the elephant, and an unannounced and rather small and dirty looking comet which has just made its appearance and is quite visible to the unassisted eye at 45 degrees of altitude, S.W., Lord Tennyson is perhaps the chief topic of the afternoon teas. He has been finally gazetted as Baron Tennyson of Aldworth in Sussex and Freshwater in the Isle of Wight. Before he was gazetted the marriage of his son was duly recorded as between the Hon. Hallan Tennyson, eldest son of Lord Tennyson and somebody, I forget whom. I believe the announcement with its tilular assumptions was quite in order, although unusual

The late Mr. Holloway whose memory has been so profusely bespattered with the admiring homages due and certainly conceded to wealth however gotten, is already out of the recollection of the public, but it has transpired that the famous pills and ointment were the invention of a well-known Italian quack who came to London about 1837, and for whom Mr. Holloway acted in the capacity of secretary and interpreter. The Italian did not succeed in his business, and on his death in 1837 he left his recipes in the hands of Mr. Holloway who then proceeded to push the sale of the preparations by means of advertisement. The person who gives this information is the son of a well-known London physician, and he says that Holloway's ointment is not worse than many others approved in the British Pharmacopœia, and as for the pills they were at least less dangerous than a famous pill now largely advertized composed chiefly of gamboge. Whilst on medical questions I may observe that Dr. Carter Moffat claims to have invented, after nine year's study, an instrument known as the Armmoniaphone which contains an absorbent material saturated with peroxida of hydrogen combined with condensed ammonia and other ingredients through which a current of air is drawn into the lungs. The air so inhaled is a highly concentrated Italianised atmosphere which, in a few days, will convert a weak or coarse voice into a pure tenor of extraordinary compass. Dr. Moffat, after experimenting on himself, noticed that an expansion of the chest took place to the extent of over half an inch, with a feeling of increased lung space and power. Experiments have also been made upon choirs in Scotland with marvellous results. Great interest will be excited in what I understand is to be Dr. Moffat's final test—the injection of Italianised air into the bagpipes.

LATEST FROM BRAZIL.

Rio, 9th

According to the mortuary returns made by the Santa Casa the deaths in Rio during January were 913, those from yellow fever being 74. From the 1st to the 6th inst. the city mortality from yellow fever was 21.

On the 30th of January the Maritime Hospital of Jurujuba was reopened for the reception of yellow fever patients from Rio. Only persons in courts and houses where they are left without proper care are removed to the hospital.

Prince Oscar Carlos Augusto, Duke of Gotland, arrived in Rio on the 1st of February, in the Swedish frigate Vanadis, on which he is serving as 1st Lieutenant. H.R.H. was welcomed to Brazil, in the name of H.M. the Emperor, by Conselheiro Jose Caetano de Andrade Pinto, who boarded the Vanadis immediately on arrival, and His Majesty soon afterwards conferred upon him the Grand Cross of the Imperial Order of Cruzeiro.

The Vanadis and the Prince left for Valparaiso on the 5th.

On the morning of the 3rd twenty officers of the 1st Regiment of Cavalry, implicated in the affair of October 25th, embarked for frontier duty in Rio Grande do Sul. It is said that at the time of embarkation and until the packet started, three battalions of infantry were kept in quarters with stacked rifles, ostensibly to go to Mass.

Baron de Santo Antonio, who died in Minas Geraes of late, left freedom to 168 slaves and endowed them with two plantations.

The concession to Joao Pinto Ferreira Leite, of unguaranteed central sugar factories in the province of Espirito Santo, has been revived and he has been relieved of the requirement to deposit 5:000$ as caution and been allowed 12 months for the organization of a company.

The Minister of Finance has issued a circular stating that the document stamps of American make, called in within three months by the circular of September 4th, 1882, are not now accepted at the Treasury. They were furnished by the New York Bank Note Company and were called in because of extensive counterfeits or overissues having been discovered in circulation, causing retrogression in the receipt from stamp duty. The only ones now admitted are those made in the Rio Casa da Moeda.

A German having the plebeian name of Wilhelm Schneider, but travelling under the aristocratic one of Emanuel von Pagliarucci, Chevalier de Kieselstein, was arrested on board the Austrian steamer Melpomene, about to leave on the 1st for the Mediterranean, and was lodged in the House of Detention, the German legation having applied for his extradition as a fraudulent bankrupt.

The custom house of Rio collected in January Import and Export duties to the amount of 3,669:481$, against 3,465:640$ in January 1883, viz—from Imports 3,233:164$, against 3,125:421, and from Exports 436:317$, against 340:219$.

The shipments of coffee in January were 285,125 sacks, against 333,521 sacks in January 1883.

In Ceara at last dates 27 of the municipalities had been freed from slavery, and according to the Gazeta da Tarde 34,000 slaves had been set free in them.

Serious troubles, with loss of life, are reported by telegraph to have finally broken out in the Argentine city of San Juan, owing to a struggle for possession of the local power, which one family has, as customary, been endeavoring to monopolize.

LATEST FROM THE SOUDAN.

Vienna, Jan. 16.

The Political Correspondence publishes a letter from Khartoum, dated Dec. 12. It appears that the first news of the catastrophe at Kashgate reached there on November 20 through a trustworthy Egyptian, sent from Duem. He swore that Hicks Pasha's army, after three days' fighting at Kashgate, had been annihilated. He himself had seen 30 camels, laden with biscuits, and a number of cannon, drawn by mules, enter Melbais. Three days after the battle he had seen the Mahdi, clothed in a yellow body garment and wearing a green turban, make his triumphal entry into El Obeid.

The man, on his stating all this at Khartoum, was taken into custody. In spite of this precaution, the news soon spread, producing a wild panic. There were only 1200 men in the garrison, and it was feared that the river communication with Berber would be cut. No one was allowed to be in the streets. The police applied this order with great severity, and flogged and put in chains every one who spoke of the "defeat." Both foreigners and natives, however, prepared for flight. The next few days brought successive confirmations of the evil news. It was stated that the enemy had on the 11th of November summoned the Commander of Schat to surrender, as Hicks Pasha's army had been annihilated by the Mahdi. Schat was afterwards evacuated, the small garrison having withdrawn to Duem. After his victory the Mahdi sent out hosts of his men to take possession of Fashoda and Tasoki, where he hoped to find ammunition for the guns and rifles which he had taken. Two steamers were sent from Khartoum, to bring the retiring garrison into that fortress. The Madhi sent another force westwards to overrun Darfour.

The letter expresses the conviction that the Mahdi, after the subjection of the western kingdom, will endeavour to bring both rivers into his power, and then to advance towards the sea, in order to seek a connection with his fellow believers on the further shore. On December 12 there were only Greeks in Khartoum; all the others having departed. The Government is collecting large quantities of wheat and rice and baked bread. The wealthy are also storing provisions. There was a report that Hicks Pasha had tried before the battle to negotiate with the Mahdi. He promised that the Government would enter into an arrangement with him if he wished to rule, but if he wished to fight he might come on. The Mahdi retired to a cave and remained for three days hidden. Then he declared that his message must be respected, and began the operations which ended in the catastrophe.

On December 3 a wounded man came in who had been in the battle of Kashgil. According to him the contest was fought in the triangle between Birket, Kasgate, and Mahotu, on Nov. 1. On the first three days the Arabs lost heavily, their loss being stated at 6,000 men; but on the fourth the ammunition of the Egyptians failed, and when the cannon and rifles were silent the Arabs, with renewed courage, rushed on the force and crushed it with overwhelming numbers. This witness had seen the general fighting with his revolver in one hand and his sword in the other.

The Mahdi's horse was shot under him. After the victory the fugitive had met the reserve corps, which had been four days without any knowledge of the battle.

EXTENSIVE FRAUDS BY LIVERPOOL MERCHANTS.

At the Liverpool Police-court yesterday, before Mr. Raffles, stipendiary magistrate, John Herd and William J. Mullins, corn merchants, carrying on business at the Corn Exchange-buildings, Brunswick-street, as Herd and Co., were charged by warrant with obtaining from the North Western Bank (Limited) the sum of £16,000 by false protences.—Mr. Marks prosecuted; Mr James Pemberton (Sampson and James) defended Herd, and Mr. Rodway (Barrell and Rodway) appeared for Mullins.—Mr. Marks said the two prisoners constituted the firm of John Herd, jun., & Co., and according to his instructions they had for some time banked with the North Western Bank. In August last they went to the bank for the purpose of discounting certain bills of exchange which they had, and as security for the bills of exchange, hypothecated in the bank 45,056 centals of wheat ex Lucile. This wheat was then in dock in Liverpool, and they handed over to the bank the bills of lading with a letter of hypothecation. The bank made an advance, and took up the bills of lading, which ultimately came into the possession of the prisoner's firm for the purpose of taking the delivery of the wheat and warehousing it. This was in August, and between then and the 27th Nov., when the bills which had been discounted would fall due, certain sales of the wheat were made, of which the bank were advised. The total amount which the bank was advised as having been sold was 5,645 centals, leaving a balance of 39,400 centals; and on the 27th Nov. (the bills becoming due three days later) the prisoners went to the bank for the purpose of having the bills retired. It turned out that there were 100 more centals than the totals imagined to exist, and on the strength of the representations of the firm, that they then had warehoused 39,500 centals of wheat, the bank advanced a sum of £16,000, which was applied in retiring the original bills of exchange. So far all seemed in order, but it appeared that a few days ago the bank had some matters brought to their knowledge which caused them to be on the alert and to make inquiries. On the 9th inst. a Mr. Denton, a clerk at the North Western Bank, saw the prisoner Mullins and requested him to give a statement of the sales which had taken place out of the original bulk of wheat. Mullins then, in his own handwriting, made out a document showing that a total quantity of 17,495 centals had been sold, thus reducing the quantity in hand to 27,552 instead of 39,000, the number of centals upon which the advance of £16,000 was made. In rough figures this altered the security to the extent of about £5,000. There was not a shadow of doubt about false pretence as far as Mullins was concerned, because on the original hypothecation the amounts represented as having been sold were entered, and he was aware of the details of the second letter of hypothecation and he signed that as being correct. He clearly knew at the time that the wheat was not worth as much as the amount represented by £5,000 at least. So far as the prisoner Herd was concerned he thought there would be little difficulty in showing that he was perfectly cognisant of what was going on and was acquainted with the whole transactions with the bank. It would be necessary to ask for a remand, and he should not trouble the Court with many witnesses —Mr. Fleming, secretary to the North Western Bank, gave evidence briefly regarding the transactions between the bank and the prisoners as opened by Mr. Marks, and further said that the prisoner Mullins handed him some keys which purported to belong to the warehouse where the wheat was stored, but subsequently he discovered that it did not belong to the warehouse at all. —Mr. Raffles then inquired whether the solicitors for the defence wished to hear any further evidence, and receiving a reply in the negative, remanded the prisoners for seven days.

B. AIRES AT THE PRESENT DAY.

Our last peregrination was, as may be remembered, to the Plaza Constitucion. The heat since then has been so truly awful that we have seen but little of the other novelties of the day; but still, what little has caught our eye has been penned down. Those precocious and beastly boys still want their heads punched! One young 'precocity' of an urchin, during our last ramble, and who was barely able to lisp out his errand, had the impudence to tender tickets for an obscure lottery. We have a faint recollection he was squeaking out something about "San Carlos" or "Choel-e-Choel!" Where these places lie is beyond our comprehension, so we must leave it to more enlightened people than ourselves to solve the problem. To our knowledge, there is a rising colony, rejoicing in the name of San Carlos, and distant about seventy leagues from this city, but we hardly imagine this remote little place can boast a lottery. On informing this young Arab that it was against our creed to invest, with the greatest 'sang-froid' he raised himself on the tips of his diminutive and naked toes, and in a most acrobatic pose informed us, "Los Señores pueden darme cinco balazos si el numero no saca suerte!" My friend got his eyeglass into requisition, and arm-in-arm we earnestly contemplated the physiognomy of this 'maravilla' of the nineteenth century. We wondered and would much have liked to know, where this poor little waif had been dragged up, to have imbibed such duelistic ideas. We pity him! Pat his head! and tell him to go home to his mother. He looks sheepish! Perhaps he is unaccustomed to kindness! He sucks his thumb and vanishes.

On this particular morning, we are inclined to be gracious with the world at large! We have been to the George, and the inner man has been refreshed! The broiled kidneys and poached eggs have had the desired effect. Beaming with Pickwickian good-nature, we think it advisable, being Sunday, to betake ourselves to Church. We arrive at the steps of the Cathedral, and enter! The holy place is crowded with the rank and aristocracy of Buenos Aires. There is a decided prevalence of "masherdom!" We cannot but note a certain irreverence; a certain mockery of religion, practised by the young men of the day. We do not wish to be severe! Do not for a minute think we hold ourselves up for saints. Far be it! Still when we "do" happen to go into a place of worship, we remember where we are, and try to the best of our poor ability to abstain from anything bordering on profanity, and strive to carry out the maxim, "Let all things be done decently and in order!" Mass over, we leave the sacred edifice and are surprised to see under the very portals, "masherdom" in all the pomp of its "agonising" collar and "apology" for a coat. Some are smoking, others jesting, one and all making themselves generally obnoxious. Verily, to a stranger it would look more like the exit from a public theatre than from the house of God. Something, surely, might be done to check the evil before it assumes more gigantic proportions.

We are undecided in which direction to steer our course. Shall we go to Belgrano, or give the "great unwashed" in the Boca the benefit of our society? We decide on the latter place, and manage to squeeze ourselves into a crowded tramcar, and in due course of time find ourselves nearing the wished-for goal. We stop in front of the Resguardo—"Exit omnes!" The change during the past year has been rapid, and the Boca has improved apace, much more so than the majority of persons thought. Mr. Huergo has certainly done wonders! He has achieved what he said, and right well has he gained his laurels! The port is crowded with vessels of all descriptions. From the very entrance, counting from where the U. S. Corvette Nipsic lies at anchor, up to Barracas Bridge itself, the place is literally deluged in sea-going craft of all nationalities and of all sizes, from 10 to 21 ft. draught. Everything is bustle! Although Sunday, the dredges are hard at work, and innumerable small steamers are to be seen flying up and down. Here in front of us, we have our old friend the Rio Uruguay, now a Paraguayan liner, and still keeping up her reputation for speed. Ahead of her, is Commander Spurr's fine vessel the Villarino, the pioneer you might say of steam traffic to Bahia Blanca and Patagones. But the eye wearies of the net-work of spars and and cordage, to be seen, here, there and everywhere. Taking from the Resguardo in the Boca, almost up to the Barraca de Peña, all is filled-in and paved, forming a most agreeable promenade for pleasure-seekers. The old, green shiny banks are no more. They have been replaced by substantial-looking piles. We have done the Boca! eaten more peaches than were good for us, and have been highly edified at the confusion of tongues. The Tower of Babel was nothing to it.

We return, and in the cool of the evening slope down to the gardens at the Retiro, where French High Life are holding their "Petit Faire de St. Cloud." We stump up 20 cents each and are admitted. We had hardly passed the threshold when the loveliest of "demoiselles" with the dearest of little baskets filled with the most exquisite little medals, to which were attached the popular colours of the day (red, white and blue) signified her wish to be allowed to pin one to each of our coats. Such an insinuating little face could not be refused. My friend had already lost his heart. I watch the operation. My friend blushes. The medal is affixed and duly pinned; dear Jack tenders 50$ m/c, for which he is abundantly thanked, but gets no change. My turn comes. I go through the ordeal—scrape up 5$ m/c from the innermost recesses of my pocket, and make tracks.

We are assailed on all sides by bevies of fair young ladies, some offering you flowers, others tickets for raffles, etc. We get bewildered, and poor Jack gets stuck to the tune of 450$ m/c. I think he got one prize. Yes, he got a baby's rattle, which might have cost $10 m/c. Jack is a bachelor. Everything about the place was got up in such a style, as only French have the happy knack of doing. The stalls were most tastefully decorated, and we really passed a most enjoyable evening. We dodged about from one stall to another, and finished by criticising the fair amateurs who were destroying their lungs to please an ungrateful public.

We left the festive scene about 10 p.m., medals and all (including Jack's broken heart).

Herodotus.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Royal Mail steamer Mondego sails this afternoon. Mail bags close at 1 p.m.

We were enveloped in Platonic Valentines yesterday. We always knew that our lady subscribers liked us, but they might have paid the postage on their kind missives wishing us many happy returns of the day. What we would wish is a happy return of all the double postage money we paid on Valentines yesterday, believing that they contained money from the camp, or new subscribers. However, we forgive you, girls, this time.

Havas's cablegram, published yesterday morning, was a "snorter." Every Britisher in town got a headache when he read it. The papers by the Amazone are also very dreary. The Queen is very weak and ill. The Fenians made an abortive attempt to murder the Prince of Wales while H. R. H. was visiting Baron Rothschild. General Gordon has been taken prisoner. Storms, shipwrecks and fires are announced. In fact, such a budget of horrible news by steam and cable has never before reached Buenos Aires in one day. As for Egypt, the only thing now to be done is to avenge the awful massacres reported. Lord Wolseley and 50,000 men from England and India will be required for the work, but it must be done. As Punch has it, John Bull cannot lead the Egyptian camel, so must ride the brute, and he does not require Mossoo's assistance, the latter being a very indifferent horseman, and so not likely to stick long on a camel's back.

Our recent article on fruit farming and preserving brought us a welcome surprise in the shape of a most delicious tin of peaches and another of duck, from our subscriber, Sr. Gruget of the Hotel Frascati, who, we may say, speaks English like a Briton. Without doubt, he has hit on the exact method of preserving the full flavor of the peach; and we were astonished to hear that he has built up such a large business during the five years he has been at work. This year he has already sealed ten thousand tins of peaches, and at the rate of six hundred a day, which he is now doing, expects to make up the number to eighteen thousand. His preserved duck, snipe and partridge are also very fine, and nothing that we have yet tasted in tinned articles can equal them. The sauces in which they are enveloped—having a most recherché flavor—are evidently the composition of a Frenchman, as no other people can approach the French in imparting to all their preparations such a delicious piquancy. They have been exported to tropical climates, and, after having been there for some time, on being opened have been found to be in perfect condition, having lost none of the original flavour.

Messrs van Cauwelaert & Co started their new wine store in Calle Defensa yesterday. They manufacture the wine on the premises, from the best grapes. We are sorry that we could not attend the public manufacture of their first bottle of Burgundy yesterday, but hear it was a great success.

Mr. Short left town yesterday for the Alexandra Colony, on important business, and will be absent some weeks. We wish him a pleasant time of it.

There was a singular funeral at the Recoleta on Wednesday. The deceased, Mrs. Inocencia Ballester, gave strict instructions that no men were to be present at the interment of her remains, except so many as were necessary to carry her coffin. The result was, 24 carriages full of ladies in the deepest mourning followed her to the grave, only eight gentlemen being present, to carry the coffin. The ceremonies in the Pilar church were most imposing: The wreaths and flowers on the coffin were very numerous and beautiful, a splendid floral cross, presented by Miss Long, justly attracting the largest share of admiration. It is a new social departure to see funerals attended solely by ladies, and we are strongly inclined to think that it is a step in the right direction.

Monsieur Berdou, proprietor of the Universelle Hotel and Baths, died on Wednesday night of a sudden disease of the stomach. The deceased gentleman held a prominent place in the French community, and was universally esteemed. He was a zealous supporter of all the French charities and mainly contributed to make the Saint Cloud Fetes what they are. He was the first man to open Public Baths in this city.

The five cent fare on the Lacroze Tramway commences to-day, at least so "on disait" yesterday. We advise Mr. L. to order at once several hundred new coaches and as many thousand horses, as he is going to make more money in five cent notes and coppers than ever he did in the dear, dirty and all but defunct Paper Dollar.

The distribution of prizes to the children of the Scotch Sunday School will take place on Sunday next, and parents and guardians are invited to attend. It is almost unnecessary to state that the prizes are the gift of that open-handed philanthropist Mr. Thomas Drysdale, who supplies the School with everything. We are requested to state that there will be service in the Scotch Church on Sunday as usual, as the Rev. Dr. Smith has decided not to visit the Cabaña till the fourth Sunday of the month—Carnival Sunday.

Some of Mr Adolfo Negrotto's College boys astonished the company on Wednesday at the Lacroze Baths by their feats in swimming. They learned in the splendid open-air bath which Mr Negrotto has at his College in Caballito. Swimming and gymnastics are now almost indispensable in every school.

We take the following from the London Standard of 18th Jan.:—

"Mr. George S. Petre, her Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at Buenos Ayres, will be transferred to Her Majesty's Legation at Lisbon on the retirement of Sir C. L. Wyke, G.C.M.G., K.C.B. The Hon. E. Monson, C.B., her Majesty's Minister at Montevideo, will succeed Mr. Petre at Buenos Ayres. Mr. W. Gifford Palgrave, Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Bangkok, will be appointed Minister Resident at Montevideo. Mr. Ernest M. Satow, C.M.G., Japanese Secretary to Her Majesty's Legation at Tokio, wil succeed Mr. Palgrave at Bangkok.

Coppers are getting plentiful since the Master of the Mint was ordered to sell them to the public. The beggars are losing money fast. Nobody gives them now more than one cent, and they curse the day that Congress passed the Act for the new National money.

The neighbourhood of Bahia Blanca and Sauce Grande has been considerably enlivened lately by the not altogether harmless though ingenious tricks of a fellow named Villalon. He began his career some time ago by robbing Mr Black of Bahia Blanca of a considerable sum of money during the clerk's absence. Being apprehended for this in Guamini, he was being escorted to Bahia Blanca, but gave the police the slip on the way. For some time he was greatly missed, but at last some peons in the Sauce Grande succeeded in pressing their hospitality on him. He was put in the stocks, but on the following morning, to the surprise of the hosts, he had disappeared. Further inquiries showed the disappearance also of some money, a silver handled knife and a horse. He left, however, his saddle in exchange. Repentance made him think of his 'recado' with regret, and whilst the peons were engaged in putting out the fire he had made, he quietly took possession of his property. He was now prudently retiring, but fate showed him to the capataz, who gave him chase. The fellow got off, and the capataz returned severely wounded. Villalon is still at large and by this time pretty well known.

Telegrams from San Juan report Governor Gil as on the high road to recovery, H. E. is now able to leave his bed and sit on an easy chair.

General Sarmiento landed at Valparaiso on Wednesday and will certainly not say the same of the people there as he did of the Gallegos in Rosario, as the people flocked to the mole to see the great man land; several deputations united on him; the President sent his aide-de-camp; the school marms and misses were all at his feet—in fact it must have been the happiest day of his life.

Lieut Colonel Howard was dined on Wednesday evening at the Cafe de Paris by 22 officers of the navy, who wished him God speed on his trip to Tierra del Fuego in the Cabo de Hornos.

A Bolivian lady, Mrs. Rodriguez, applied yesterday to the Tribunal of Commerce for the necessary permit to carry on an import and export business with foreign countries. This is the first lady merchant we have heard off.

The poor tramways! There is no peace for the wicked here or hereafter. During the recent Pipe Water squeeze one of the companies protested that the supply was so short that 700 of its horses had nothing to drink. On refering to their books the Water Board found that the company had declared it had only 100 horses, and had been paying for years for water for that number. The result is, that the number of horses used by all the tram companies is now to be strictly overhauled and the charge for pipewater to be raised accordingly.

A fragment of conversation between two young girls—"Do you know what a preface is?" "No; do you?" "Not exactly, only I know that it is at the beginning of books." "Oh! well then it must be the same as when we are courted before entering mariage,"

Cedulas E	87½
Cedulas F	84¾
National Bank Shares	130½
Old Gas Shares	1,650 m/c.
Argentine Gas Shares	118

The Cedula market opened under the influence of most favorable rumors; the notices will appear shortly, and no limit has been fixed to the export of Cedulas to Europe. The bulls pushed the market and prices went up; both shares and Cedulas advanced to-day. Operations for the end of the month embraced 135,000 Series E at 87½-⅝; a few were sold cash at 87½, and for the end of the month at 87¾. About 9,000 Series F were sold for cash at 84¾. The market ruled dull in spite of the favorable rumors, but the situation has changed; the market has assumed an upward tendency, and the bulls are in a much better position than at the beginning of the week.

The market opened this morning under the glorious sunshine of refreshed hope, and like wildfire the news ran from Bank to Bolsa and back that the National Bank had commenced drawing exchange on England and France at the Provincial Bank rates. Many of the brokers dashed round in their tilburies to the Bank to see if it was true, and when they found it confirmed, all at once came to the conclusion that the National Bank Loan was done, and the Bank was merely drawing for the balance. We, for our part, have no advices from London about any of the loans pending, but a colleague announces that the Government here have telegraphed to the Argentine Minister in Paris, giving orders to launch the $8,000,000 of the National Bank Loan, exclusive of the Riachuelo and City Improvement Works' Loan contained in the General Bond; the Syndicate in Paris have accepted the arrangement, and the National Bank has begun to draw for the balance, which is estimated at something over two million patacons, having drawn already for about four millions. This news spread sunshine round the ring, and the bulls looked in the best of spirits. Four thousand shares were sold for the end of the month and the market was the scene of great excitement; rates opened at 130, fell slightly, then went up gradually as high as 130¾, closing firm at 130½. Eight hundred shares were sold for the end of March at 132. The market has completely veered round since yesterday, and the situation looks more bullish than ever. How long the effect of the good news will last is the query of the moment.

There is a conviction gaining ground that one of the great bulls has sold out; 12,000 shares it is stated have been let go from this quarter; should there be foundation to the rumor it shews how firm the market has been in spite of the great pressure of such a heavy supply of the stock. Outsiders have entered the market, but the public does not enter into the spirit of the speculation.

Some old Gas Shares were sold to-day at 1650 $ % each; some Argentine Gas Shares changed hands for cash at 118 o/o.

The Board of the Mortgage Bank issued one million Cedulas F in January, say 800,000$ taken off the market. The balance sheet of the Bank was perused with much interest and it is remarkable to see how much interest is being taken in balance-sheets, discounts, economical articles and finances in general.

The news from Montevideo is that all the banks are taking exchange, they are following the example of the private banks in this market. This metallizing process of the private banks is the mainspring of the fall in exchange; the tightness of the money market has given a firmer tone to exchange.

The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—

Cedulas—
For cash E 1,000 at 87½
For Feb. 29th E 135,000 at 87½-⅝-½-⅝
For March 31st E 10,000 at 87½
For cash F 8,800 at 84¾
Sales, 154,800

National Bank Shares—
For Feb. 29th 3,950 at 130-129⅞-130-½-130 to 130-½-½-130-½-½-⅜-⅜-½
For March 31st 800 at 132
Sales, 4,750

Argentine Gas Shares—
For cash 50 at 118

Primitive Gas Shares—
For Feb. 15th 40 at $1,650 %

The following vessels entered the Riachuelo yesterday:—The steamers Bahia Blanca and Pomona from Bahia Blanca with passengers and produce cargoes; steamer Mensagero from Montevideo with cargo for Asuncion and ports, and 16 coasting vessels with produce cargoes. The German barque Pudel entered, towed from the canal by the tug Enriqueta to the Mole of Messrs. Corti and Riva where she will discharge her cargo of timber; American lugger John Sherwood with lumber cargo towed in from outer roads by tug Vigilante to the Badaraca mole where she will discharge, and an English barque from the outer roads. The Austrian pilotboat Ave entered from Rio and will shortly be put up for auction. The departures were: English barque Wave Queen in ballast, American lugger Henry Warner for the United States; and Italian barque and 14 sailing vessels for the river ports with general cargoes. The following steamers are unloading at the various moles between the Sub-Prefecture and Resguardo: Mensagero. Montevideo, Bahia Blanca, Pomona, Concordia, Colon and Progreso.

Respecting the London Frozen Meat Market, we have received the following advices from London:—

"The decline in prices began with the arrival of the River Plate shipment per ss. Paraguay, as the day the first of her sheep were on the market (11th August) New Zealand sheep were making 7d fully and Australians 6¼-7d. In ten days Australians had fallen to 5-6d, and by the end of August to 4½-5d; and New Zealand sheep proportionally. After the Paraguay's sheep were exhausted prices remained low for some time, but gradually recovered, till on 7th December New Zealand sheep got up to 6½d and Australian averaged 5½d. Since then prices have steadily declined.

"The cause is entirely owing to the immense shipments of frozen mutton; but it has affected home stock as much as foreign. We do not expect prices can improve for some time to come, but the low prices will have the natural result of checking further shipments.

"American meat shipments are not unusually large, and are being as injuriously affected by the over supply of frozen mutton as anything else.

"River Plate mutton won't fetch more than 4½d per lb; and New Zealand, 5½-5¾d, Australian, 5d. } may be quoted.

About one hundred people attended Bullrich's land auction to-day nearly all National land men, owning from ten to one hundred leagues of land. There was little interest taken in the sale and only 20 leagues of the 28 offered were knocked down to bidders. Colonel Manuel Campos bought lot No. 6 at the rate of $90 m/c per hectare, say $225,000 % per league; the town of General Acha is situated on this lot. Lot No. 19 was bought by Mr Simons for $41 % per hectare. Mr. Sarmiento bought lot No. 3 at $36 % per hectare, and 1 and 2 were knocked down to Mr. Almandos at $35 % per hectare. These are splendid prices for lands so far out; in fact nobody expected to see lands in these sections sell so high in the present lull of the land business.

Respecting the discount of Treasury Bills we are authorised to state that at any of the banks they would be discounted at 8 per cent, and the Minister of Hacienda has money offered to him for much less. The Treasury meets all its engagements with the greatest punctuality, and holds large credits at its disposal in Europe, of which to the present it has made no use. Dr Plaza, Minister of Hacienda, has the fullest confidence in the soundness of the market, and whatever pressure at present exists, springs from a temporary check of discounts by the banks. Exchange is rising; the volume of exports is very large and greater than in former years, and the country never at any previous time progressed as at present. All the great Public Works of the National Government are pushed ahead with the same push and energy as last year, and there is really no cause for the slightest alarm in the market, save the interested views of speculators to create that alarm.

There was a much better feeling in the market to-day, and exchange advanced, money was not felt so tight. We hear that there is every probability that for the mail of the 24th there will be new drawers of exchange and large amounts.

Lord Mayo may be expected out in the Plate shortly his Lordship comes to visit the Rio Negro and Patagones.

Letters from London announce the probability of a change in the management of one of our private banks in Montevideo.

Mr Williamson was welcomed to-day on his return from Tandil; he states that this summer resort is still crowded with families from this city.

50,000£ are expected to arrive in the Euclid for the Italian Bank. Over two hundred thousand pounds will be shipped to the Plate for the National Bank. The remittances of gold to this market have been, and continue to be, large.

In another column we publish telegrams from London announcing a fall of ⅛d. in the Colonial wool sales, and from Antwerp announcing the sale of a cargo of salted Uruguay ox hides at 73 frcs.

The wool markets ruled flat this morning; there is no change in the situation for the moment. Operations drag on slowly and wool is accumulating fast in the South Plaza.

The Toro is posted to leave for Bahia Bahia and Patagones on the 24th inst. The Pomona arrived from Bahia Blanca and leaves shortly for Montevideo to enter Cibils's Dock; she will be back towards the end of the month and will leave the Bahia Blanca on the 1st prox.

The market ruled dull during afterhours; Shares weakened somewhat; the market opened with an attempt at firmness at 131, when a leading ex-bull entered and offered to sell at 130¾; the market then fell gradually to 130½, closing rate, buyers for the end of the month. Cedulas were much neglected; the market closed firm at 87⅜, buyers for the end of the month.

Telegrams from Rio Janeiro under date 13th February give the following:—

"Exchange on London at 22½d for 1,000 reis paper.
"Sovereigns, 11:300 reis.
"Maize—
"At 4:400 reis per bag of 62 kilos.
"Jerked Beef—
"From R. Plate at 280-380 reis per kilo.
"Stock of River Plate and Rio Grande, 1,400,000 to 1,500.000 kilograms."

The Anglo-Brazilian Times to hand by the mail gives the following:—

"Rio Janeiro, Feb. 1-8th, 1884.

"Exchange—

"Since our last report rates have considerably hardened and the Bank rate is now 22d nominal, as takers are without funds to invest in exchange. There are rumours also of business in Bank paper having been done at over 22d. The market is most unmistakeably firm.

"Business in coffee having been brisk, bills have been offered freely. Beginning at 22d, the rate has risen steadily until drawers have had to accept money as high as 22 3/16. The rate closes firm.

"As business in the North appears also to be active, and the almost unexampled tightness of money is preventing takers of exchange from operating, rates may be maintained and possibly go higher before a relapse.

"Rates on France may be quoted 433 reis per franc for Bank paper and 428-430 reis for Commercial bills.

"Bank rates on Feb. 8th:—
On London at 90 days 22d per mil reis.
On Paris " 433 reis per franc.
On Hamburg " 535 reis per mark."

The Phœnician, of the Allan Line of steamers, arrived to-day in Montevideo with Liverpool dates to 20th ult. and a general cargo for the R. Plate.

The Allan Line steamer Canadian will leave on the 18th inst.; she takes from here:—
2,400 bales of wool
300 tons of maize
From Montevideo—
1,200 bales of wool
6,000 salted hides

The freight market is somewhat firmer; 20 francs asked for Dunkerque and Havre.

The Independent, with the wooden houses, has arrived; she is anchored off Punta Lara, where she will discharge.

Telegrams from Rio announce a rise in exchange; the rate on London has jumped to 22⅜d.

By advices per mail we see that Dr. P. Lamas held a splendid lecture before the Paris Geographical Society on the Argentine Republic. The country wants one hundred men like Dr. Lamas to make a propaganda in Europe. The lecture must have opened the eyes of the Paris audience.

The exchange market in Montevideo is reported weak; rates on London are quoted at 51¼ and on France at 5.45. All the banks, it appears, are taking. Exchange on B. Aires done at 2¼ o/o.

The faena of the following Uruguayan saladeros up to the 10th inst. will be read with interest:—

Salto	18,000 head.
Guaviyu	14,000
Nuevo Paysandu	27,514
Sacra	12,650
Casa Blanca	16,500
Fray Bentos	23,000
	111,664 head

The Delambre, of the Lamport & Holt line, is expected towards the end of the month; she will enter the Riachuelo and discharge there.

The 22nd report of the Transandine Telegraph Company has appeared; shareholders will receive a further 6 o/o dividend for account of the half-year ending December 30th last, making a total of 14 o/o for the six months. The profits of the half-year were $138,640.86, which are distributed as follows:

Interim dividends paid in Oct. and Nov. = 8 o/o	$ 40,000.00
Actual dividend payable at present = 6 o/o	30,000.00
Repairs and extraordinary expenses, account	25,140.86
Clerks	3,500.00
Dividend fund	40,000.00
	138,640.86

These figures speak for themselves; shareholders may be well satisfied with the results; the 6 o/o dividend will soon be paid; as yet the notice has not appeared.

We take the following from the Herapath's Railway Journal:—

"Buenos Aires Great Southern.—This line is looking ahead. Who can now say that luxurious travelling is confined to France, the United States, and England? The Argentine must be getting just a wee bit aristocratic. There has just been completed for this flourishing line, at the Darnall Carriage Works, Sheffield, the largest sleeping and dining car ever constructed in this country. It is 60 feet long, 9 feet 4 inches wide, and 9 feet 5 inches high. Entering through the smoke-room, the passenger reaches the saloon, which is fitted with two dining tables, a sideboard, and six sofas, the latter being converted into beds at night time. The saloon is 24 feet long by 9 feet 4 inches wide. From the saloon a corridor leads to the ladies' saloon, which is fitted up with every conceivable comfort and convenience. There are also lavatories, bathrooms, and an attendant's room. Various special contrivances have been employed to secure adequate ventilation free from the dust which is so great an annoyance in B. Aires. The car is for 5 feet guage. It is 2 feet wider than an ordinary English carriage, and 2 feet higher in the centre. The designs and drawings were by Mr. T. F. Crayen, acting under instructions from Mr. J. Livesey, C.E., engineer to the B. Aires Great Southern Railway Company."

We take the following from London dates to the 18th ult.:—

"The present week has seen a most complete change in the aspect of the money market. On the release of the dividends short money became immediately easy, and discount rates began to fall away from those current at the end of December, until, on the 11th inst., the discount charge having fallen to 2 o/o for three months bank bills, a reduction in deposit rates was made from 2 and 2¼ to 1½ and 2 o/o at call and notice. For a day or two the situation remained unchanged; but with the arrangement of the account rates began to harden, and the upward movement has since been continuous. It has already been remarked that the requirements of the Stock Exchange, taken in connection with the reduction of the deposit rates by the discount market, materially influenced the rise in the value of money; but the export of gold has certainly been the chief influence on the market. That gold to the amount of 3 or 400,000 pounds should be moved from the Bank to an unknown destination fairly puzzled the market, and conjecture was busy in trying to solve the problem. Ostensibly the money was shipped to South America; but this explanation hardly satisfied the inquiries of the curious, and now it appears that the gold had been shipped to Australia. It is difficult to account for such transactions, but the most likely explanation appears to be that some institutions in Australia have so far run down their cash reserves that it is necessary to replenish them. The result of these shipments is, it is stated, a loss, and from these considerations the market is inclined to the opinion that no large amount has yet to follow. At the same time, when the circumstances are so novel, it is idle to hazard an opinion as to the future course of events. The present effect is manifest, for the downward movement has not only been arrested but reversed, and rates close fully ⅛ o/o higher than last. "Short" money is easy, but this is always the case when the market unanimously ask higher rates of discount, for lenders will then accept low interest for a day or two sooner than commit themselves to a three months' transaction. Some banks consider that the margin between bills and money having been restored the deposit rates should be put back to 2 and 2½, at which figures they stood previously to the 11th, but the discount market is as yet hardly prepared for this.

"Subscriptions are invited for an issue of £400,000 debenture stock of the Buenos Aires and Pacific Railway Co., which enjoys an Argentine Government guarantee of 7 o/o for twenty years. The price is £111 10s per £100. The issue forms part of a total of £1,312,340 debenture stock, which, in addition to the Government guarantee, will have a first charge on the net revenue of the railway, now in course of construction."

Advices under date Philadelphia, Jan 14th, state that Mr. Charles Delmonico, of New York, restaurant manager, recently became insane in consequence of losses in Wall-street speculations. He mysteriously disappeared, and search had been made everywhere for him. His body was found in the woods on the Orange mountain, New Jersey. He had died from exposure.

Turnip seed oil is the newest thing out for putting hair on bald pates. The discovery is said to have been made by a Bengal doctor who has the misfortune to bear the name of Jonathan Snot.

There was no fresh Tramway news yesterday. The Press Committee coaxed some shadowy concessions from the dissenting companies (Lacroze is the only man with true faith in the five cent fare) and now things are going on much as they were before the row began, but another flare-up may occur at any moment.

A young Government clerk named Hernandez stole 300 Nats. from a friend on Wednesday and then shut himself up in his room in Calle Talcahuano, to blow out what he calls his brains, if the police tried to break into the room to arrest him. He wrote to an aunt of his telling her he would pull the trigger at 6 a.m. sharp yesterday, but up to 2 p.m. he had not done so, and the chances are he will decide to remain above ground and surrender to the police.

The Tonkin muddle is beginning to tell on the French Marine Transport service. The steamer Poitou, so well known in these waters, has been chartered by the French Government to carry troops to Tonkin. More big steamers will have to be chartered before "la belle France" gets out of this Tonkin mess.

Tramway-on-the-brain is an epidemic disease now in town. We had a letter yesterday from a leading "mayoral" who asks us to oblige him by propounding the following question: "By whose order do the police arrest respectable 'mayorales' and 'cocheros' for imaginary infractions of imaginary rules, when it is the 'vigilantes' themselves who require to be 'vigilared,' as they violate every line in the Decalogue oftener every hour than the just man falls in a whole day?" Now that we have put our correspondent's question, we may remark that 'bobbies,' from a "mayoralish" point of view, are a lost lot. Perhaps some kind policeman would enable us to hear the "alteram partem" by sending us his opinion of the tram guards.

The commander of the pontoon Vanguardia has reported to the War Minister that he can neither eat, drink, or sleep, and that his life is a burden to him. The cause of this pathetic complaint is simply that the dynamite saved from the British Brown has been placed on board the pontoon, and the poor captain fears that he may suddenly be summoned below or aloft before his time. Very good fear for him. As well as we remember Captain Hunter Davidson and another distinguished officer recommended that this dynamite should be thrown into the river, yet here it is again, as fresh as a daisy, threatening half the vessels in port with destruction.

A stranger journeying in France fell sick unto death; his friend called in a medical man, who demurred about giving his professional services, fearing the wherewithal might not be forthcoming to settle his bill. The friend, producing a 100 franc bill, said: "Kill him or cure him this is yours." The sick man died and was buried; the doctor finding his money slow to appear, reminded the survivor of the debt. "Did you cure him?" he asked. "No, Sir." "Did you kill him?" "Certainly not." "Then you have no claim on me, Sir; I wish you good-day."
